

Officials Plan Safety Measures At Borough Detour

Parents Air Protests Over Construction

COMPLAINTS of area residents that a detour established for Route 209 where it crosses Pocono Creek was endangering the lives of children brought quick action yesterday on the state and local level.

The detour was established while Guy Trimpey of Middleburg, contractor on the job, constructs a permanent bridge over the creek. Also involved is .11 of a mile of road work.

The project is expected to be completed by Christmas, unofficial sources reported.

Several residents of the area complained to The Daily Record, borough officials and local representatives of the State Highways Department that children were being endangered cross the detour.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE SPANS CREEK—This temporary structure is being used by motorists and pedestrians to cross Pocono Creek while a permanent bridge is being built on W. Main St. to replace span washed out in the August, 1955, flood. Detour resulted in some protests from area residents that their children were endangered while going to and from school.

GOING, GOING, ALMOST GONE—this is temporary bridge spanning the Pocono Creek on W. Main St. which will be replaced by a permanent structure. Original bridge was washed away in 1955 flood. Work may be completed by Christmas. This bridge is a major means of travel for school children. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Clark Calls Incodel Compact 'Obsolete'

Engineer In Opposition To Pressure

POCONO MANOR — Philadelphia District Engineer Col. Allen F. Clark flatly opposed pressure to get Federal participation in the Tocks Island dam through Congress in 1958 yesterday at the annual Incodel conference.

Clark thus placed himself in opposition to the public stand taken earlier in the morning by Francis A. Pitkin, Incodel chairman. Pitkin urged Incodel to "strike while the iron is hot" and attempt to get Congressional approval for Federal participation in cost of the dam next year. He emphasized this was a "personal" recommendation.

The district engineer said that, to get Congressional okay, a special "short-range report" on Tocks Island would have to be made and submitted to the Congress.

That would be "a major diversion of Corps of Engineer efforts and a delaying factor in completion of the overall, comprehensive study Congress authorized the Corps to complete," he said.

"We are now essentially on schedule with that study," he went on. "We are now setting Sept. 30, 1959 as a completion date for it."

Unjustified "It would be unjustified to interrupt the comprehensive plan to gain the small amount of time given by the interim report," he said. "A special report on Tocks Island might well jeopardize the overall plan."

"A special report would delay the comprehensive study by 12 months or more . . . and would increase the cost by perhaps $250,000. The Tocks Island report would be ready in 1958—but we feel the comprehensive survey will be completed in 1959," he said.

Before Congress would approve Federal participation, Col. Clark said, "we would have to set up a system for allocation of benefits and costs. This cannot be developed correctly until we have studied the whole valley."

Col. Clark said that he saw "no reason Pennsylvania and New Jersey should not go on with construction of a dam at Tocks Island." Most of the Incodel members at the conference accepted this as an indication that the Corps of Engineers feels, at present, that any "comprehensive" plan for the Delaware will include a Tocks Island reservoir.

It was on this point that Pitkin based his recommendation. He told fellow Incodel members that since the dam seemed destined to form a basic part of the Delaware River Basin plan, efforts should be started now to get it constructed as soon as possible, with Federal aid.

Col. Clark's statement yesterday morning was taken to mean that such a drive would definitely not have the backing of the Corps.

'Stand Up And Be Counted' Industrial Fund Inches Beyond $13,000 Level

THE INDUSTRIAL development fund of Monroe County Industries, Inc. inched past the $13,000 mark yesterday, enroute to its goal of $15,000, with only $85 in contributions reported. The total reached $13,082.

Donors to the fund included Bensinger and Bensinger, attorneys, $50; Dr. Harold S. Pond, $25, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Jones, Cresco, $10.

In enclosing their $10 contribution, the Joneses identified themselves as "prospective residents of Swiftwater upon retirement."

Fifth Week The campaign, now well into its fifth week, is intended to raise funds for purchase of 15 acres of a 19-acre plot owned by Robert Christman in the Tante Road area of the borough.

Two outside industries have shown an interest in the site. The land will be sold to the two industries and the receipts placed in a revolving fund for future industrial projects.

Crecks for contributions may be made payable to the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

A formal department ruling charged they "willfully violated" a government travel ban by touring the China mainland as guests of the Peiping Communist regime.

The department announced the move at the same time it disclosed a final decision against renewing the passport of William Worthy, who visited Red China last December in his role as a correspondent of the Baltimore Afro-American.

Application Worthy's application has been rejected, the department said, mainly on the grounds he has refused to promise to abide by regulations.

A State Department spokesman hinted, however, that the 42 young Americans as well as Worthy might regain their passports if they pledged never to violate restrictions again.

All were given an opportunity to appeal the department's action. They may turn to State Department passport officers for a review, or present their case to the appeals board.

The move to seize the passports had been foreshadowed by a warning given last month by Undersecretary of State Christian Herter.

AFL-CIO Links Hoffa With Hoods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee today practically read Teamster boss James R. Hoffa out of the big labor federation. It issued a report linking Hoffa with what it called a "rogue's gallery of hoodlums."

The hard-hitting report served on the Teamsters found the 11-million-member union — the nation's largest — to be dominated by corrupt leaders.

It put Hoffa, union President Dave Beck and West Coast Teamster chief Frank W. Brewster in that category and sternly pointed to what it said was a Teamsters Union failure to give any adequate answers to Senate Rackets Committee disclosures.

Findings The findings—due for formal approval by the AFL-CIO Executive Council in New York next week—strongly hinted that the 15-million-member foundation will kick out the Teamsters if Hoffa is retained in any office of his union, much less its presidency.

Hoffa, 44-year-old Detroit national vice president of the union, is running for Beck's job as Teamsters president. Beck, after being enmeshed in union scandals, has announced he won't stand for re-election at the Teamsters convention starting Sept. 30 at Miami Beach, Fla.

Hoffa's strong grip over Teamsters affairs has weakened somewhat in the wake of August hearings into his affairs by the Senate Rackets Committee. Renewed hearings on Hoffa are scheduled for next Tuesday, just in advance of the Teamsters convention.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said today Hoffa "committed flagrant, willful and contemptible perjury" by testifying he could not recall matters raised at the Rackets Committee hearings.

Addressing a trade association convention in New York, McClellan did not mention Hoffa by name but described testimony only Hoffa had given.

Successful Cold Vaccine

BALTIMORE, Sept. 18 (AP)—The first successful vaccine against a major common cold virus was reported tonight. The Baltimore Sun said the vaccine was developed by Dr. Winston H. Price, Johns Hopkins University scientist.

In a copyright story in tomorrow's paper, Sun science writer Weldon Wallace reported the vaccine prevented colds caused by the JH virus in 80 per cent of 400 persons inoculated in a series of controlled tests.

Attention The JH virus, isolated by Dr. Price in previous studies, caused 30 per cent of the common colds which came to his attention in investigations made over a two-year period.

Storm Kills Three

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18 (AP)—Tropical storm Esther broke up into squalls as it moved inland today, threatening areas of three states with floods.

There was little wind damage as Esther hit the Louisiana coast, but high tides and heavy rains took three lives by drowning and ran property damage into the thousands of dollars.

Three persons drowned in swollen canals, two in the New Orleans area and one near Morgan City, La. But there was little property damage.

The Weather Bureau predicted the deluge that hit the Louisiana and Mississippi coast would spread into east-central Mississippi and Alabama during the night, then farther to the northeast tomorrow.

Dulles Places Final Touches On Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles put the finishing touches today on lining to the United Nations on U.S. position on critical East-West issues.

While the U.N. Assembly prepared to come to grips once more with the question of admitting Red China and additional controversial issues, Dulles met with representatives of other Western Nations. He conferred with the foreign ministers of Canada and Australia, presumably to fill them in on the speech to be delivered to the Assembly tomorrow morning.

India India has asked that Red China's membership be made a subject for Assembly consideration. Britain and a number of other nations have said they will support the U.S. request to postpone discussion for another year.

The United States is confident it will succeed, as it has in the past in keeping the U.N. door closed to the Chinese Communists.

The 16-nation Steering Committee approved inclusion of such controversial items as Algeria and Cyprus for Assembly consideration, but it did not get around to Red China. The committee will meet again tomorrow afternoon.

Dulles invited heads of the various U.N. delegations to a reception tonight at the Hotel Waldorf. He has conferred with leaders of various delegations since his arrival in New York, among them Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, who was elected Assembly president yesterday.

Munro set the opening of the general policy debate for 10:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Radio and television networks have scheduled Dulles' speech for 11 a.m. EDT.

Dulles will speak first in what will be a top-level clash with the Soviet Union on hot East-West issues, including the Middle East and disarmament.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is set to reply on Friday.

Senator Calls For Change In Methods

By Leonard Randolph

POCONO MANOR—Addressing Incodel—a four-state commission on development of the Delaware River — Sen. Joseph S. Clark last night called such compacts "obsolete as a method of dealing with river valley" problems.

Clark then recommended "reorganization of the executive branch of the Federal government to deal effectively with river valley development." He went on to say:

"Despite the endless chain of Presidential study committees, we are still faced with administrative chaos. Twenty Federal agencies are involved in the proper planning of the Delaware Basin resources (but) the latest Presidential survey points out the absence of any effective coordination of the work of these agencies."

"Our inability to get through the Congress as much money as was needed to carry the Corps of Engineers survey ahead with all deliberate speed is a good example of the full effects of this lack of Federal administrative organization."

Discovery "After the Corps had obtained Budget Bureau approval for its own needs in connection with the survey, it was discovered that few, if any, of the Federal agencies had been warned to seek appropriations to pay for their share of the work."

"Until we get responsibility for Federal planning and financing of river development concentrated under one head—preferably located in the White House—we will continue to find the Federal effort inadequately prepared to do the necessary job."

Sen. Clark was the main speaker at the three-day session of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin (Incodel). The commission is a semi-official offshoot of the State governments of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Delegates from all four States are attending the conference. Legion Requests President To Seek Status Changes

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 18 (AP)—The American Legion called on President Eisenhower today to take the lead in seeking revision of status-of-forces agreements with foreign governments.

"It is our considered belief," the legion said, "that injustices to individuals have arisen from the administration of these treaties and agreements and will arise in the future unless pertinent provisions are modified."

Army Specialist William S. Girard is currently on trial in a Japanese court on charges he caused the death of a Japanese woman scavenging on a military firing range. The legion resolution, however, fails to mention his name.

Turned Over Girard was turned over to the Japanese under a status-of-forces agreement and American Legion Commander W. C. (Dan) Daniel, of Danville, Va., said in his report to the convention yesterday that the case has brought the need for revision into "sharp focus."

Action by the legion's more than 3,000 delegates came after almost 45 minutes of debate over the phrasing of one section. As adopted, the resolution calls on the President and Congress to incorporate these provisions in status-of-forces agreements:

Report On Weather Gauging Stations Mark Meeting Of Civil Defense Rescue Group

A REPORT on U. S. weather gauging stations in Monroe County highlighted a meeting of the boat rescue division of Monroe County Civil Defense last night in the courthouse.

The stations are located at Brodheads Creek; in Barrett Township on Brodheads Creek; Tannersville for Pocono Creek; Swiftwater for the Swiftwater Creek and Paradise Fish Hatchery on Paradise Creek.

Several other locations are now in the process of construction.

It was pointed out that study of the water level is directly associated with boat rescue work.

Harold Hosier, coordinator of the boat rescue division, was chairman of the meeting.

Judge Fred W. Davis, county CD director, paid tribute to the work of the group during the flood of 1955 and explained some of the problems confronting the CD organization.

Others attending the session were Paul Crawn, deputy county CD director; Mrs. Catherine Miller, assistant deputy director; Mrs. June Clever, county headquarters staff; William Laubner, Frank Merwarth, Harold E. Seip, C. K. Ellenberger, Francis B. Wildow, Edward Bennett, Civil Nelson, George Stettler, William A. Rake, J. G. Vallerichamp, Albert L. Schoonover and Lawrence DePue.

Approximately 25 amateur radio operators allied with CD also met yesterday under the direction of Ernest Transue, communications officer for the county unit.

The group is taking a course in technique and operations which will lead to a general operator's license.

Today will be observed as "CD School Day" with distribution of booklets on disaster procedure, assembly programs, films and "duck and cover" drills.

Judge Davis, CD director, Carl Seor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg schools; Ralph Burrows, East Stroudsburg High School principal, and Thomas Kistler will take part in a program at ESHS at 3 p. m.

Monroe County Represented At Meeting Of Republican Leaders In Wilkes-Barre

WILKES-BARRE, Sept. 18 (AP)—Chairman George I. Bloom of the Republican State Committee and other Republican state leaders conferred today at separate conferences with the Republican leaders of 11 northeastern Pennsylvania counties here.

The conferences were held in conjunction with the regional political activities sessions of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

Building "We are starting now to build for the 1958 election," Bloom said in announcing the leadership conferences. "We have gone to the grass roots to find out the sentiment both on issues and candidates and to offer state committee services to the local Republican organization."

B. K. Williams, chairman of the Monroe County Republican organization, represented Monroe County at the conference. Other counties present were Carbon, Pike, Wayne, Susquehanna and Sullivan.

Investigator Speaks On Narcotics At Kiwanis Club

PENNSYLVANIA IS ONE of a number of states which need stronger laws to curb the illicit sale and use of narcotics, according to a field investigator for the State Health Department.

John G. Hoffman, agent for the Division of Narcotic Drug Control, made the statement during an address at yesterday's meeting of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club.

He said the drug addiction problem is one law enforcement agents will face as long as the terrific margin of profit results from its illegal sale.

Heroin, for example, costs $1,100 for two and one-half pounds in the pure state when purchased in Lebanon or Italy. After being smuggled into this country and cut to two per cent of purity, however, the same quantity of the drug sells for $100,000, Hoffman said.

Heroin, he observed, is sometimes considered more dangerous than other drugs because it is five times as addictive as any other.

Warning Heroin, he observed, is some- against the use of tranquilizer pills, declaring their overuse may easily lead to mental disorders.

The drug addict, he said, is not always a degenerate individual, at least not at the start. He might be one of the city's leading citizens. And very frequently the addict is a psychopathic individual, perhaps a teen-age boy or girl, who is willing to try anything for "kicks." Or he might be a neurotic who uses drugs or alcohol in an attempt to put himself on a higher mental plane.

Adicts have told Hoffman almost without fail they never get anything out of drugs except the habit. The high cost of narcotics—running as high as $100 a day—leave most victims penniless.

Drug addiction, he said, is increasing in the United States because of the increase in population and the influx of people from other countries, in some of which the use of narcotics is commonplace.

Hoffman said large centers of population present the greatest drug problem. From his experience, he said, a higher class of children who are more amenable to their parents are found in the smaller communities.

Hoffman displayed a number of narcotics at the close of his talk. He was introduced by Lamont Hornbeck, program chairman.

New Stamps On Sale

STROUDSBURG Postoffice reported yesterday that a new stamp was put on sale Sept. 6. The Postal Department issued a three-cent stamp to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Marquis de Lafayette on Sept. 6.

Easton was one of three cities in the United States chosen for simultaneous first day sales of this stamp.

Collectors should bear in mind that this is a vertical stamp and envelopes should be addressed in the lower left corner, particularly when blocks are desired.

Information about reservations may be obtained by calling Miss Ella Siegfried, Bethlehem UN 7-5062.

Time Changes In October

DAYLIGHT Saving Time will extend to Sunday, Oct. 27 in the Poconos and most other cities and towns in the East. In some sections of the country, however, it will end Sunday, Sept. 29.

In 1955 a movement to extend daylight time to the last Sunday in October was adopted in all the New England states, New York, New Jersey and parts of Pennsylvania and Illinois. Places in Indiana and Nebraska adopted daylight time the year around.

Board To Meet

MOUNTAINHOME — The Board of Managers of the Barrett Branch YMCA will meet Monday 8 p.m. here in the branch building. President E. Kenny Crothers urges all board members to be present for this year's meeting as plans for this year's program will be discussed.

Planning, Zoning Vital To County Development

What community planning experts sometimes refer to as "pressures of development" are starting to build up in the Pocono Mountains region.

They pose a real threat to orderly community development and therefore call for responsible public officials to conduct a searching re-survey of the situation with the view of arriving at reasonably swift decisions on how to solve the problems that are certain to arise.

The Daily Record in recent years has made periodic appeals for regional planning and zoning. It feels the time to act is now, before there is any further growth in the county's population and its economy.

Strong support for the newspaper's stand came this week when M. F. Crowe, president of Monroe County Industries Inc., spoke at a Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce meeting. He said conditions call for immediate action on the zoning and planning front.

"There are no rules anywhere in the county which can prevent a fertilizer factory or sausage plant from being built on the property next to your home or mine," was the way Mr. Crowe described the present situation.

Pressures To Increase

And the problem threatens to grow progressively more complex in the next few years as the "pressures of development" become more pronounced, the industrial chairman warned.

Several reasons were given for the budding crisis. For one thing, present highways are scheduled for relocation, widening and other major improvements. Moreover, the Keystone Shortway across Pennsylvania with one terminus in Monroe County is a definite prospect for the foreseeable future.

When this expanded highway network comes into full use, there is bound to be a much heavier volume of traffic pouring into the Poconos from all parts of the country.

The area's potential as a tourist center is due for another tremendous boost at some future date with the construction of a gigantic water storage and flood control reservoir on the Delaware River at Tocks Island. This may well prove to be one of the major recreation spots in the entire East.

With the increased travel will come new demands for eating and sleeping accommodations, recreational facilities, transportation services, stores and other business centers. It's evident, then, there will be an increase in the county's population and a spreading out into areas that are now sparsely populated.

But, as Mr. Crowe pointed out, much of the region's growth will come from still another direction. It will result from industrial development of the area, a factor that will probably come about quicker than the highway and recreational development.

It's not too far-fetched to presume that a land boom of sorts will accompany the start of construction on the Keystone Shortway and the New Jersey superhighway between Delaware Water Gap and New York City.

Hodge-Podge Pattern

Neither is it wrong to say that unless planning and zoning are initiated on a wide scale without further dilly-dallying, we can expect a hodge-podge pattern of construction that could seriously affect property values in many parts of the county.

Monroe County has a Planning Commission, but its hands are tied because of lack of funds with which to retain a planning consultant. This is a necessary step in arriving at a long-range plan of action providing protection for all property owners.

The planning would be done on a regional rather than a county-wide basis. It would lead to fullest collaboration on regional development of municipal services—water supply, sanitary sewers, recreation facilities, flood control, etc. It would enable local government units to plan their communities along lines that would be beneficial to all.

Adoption of zoning laws and building codes is vital to the well planned community. Zoning sets aside certain areas for residential, industrial and business development. Building codes restrict the types of construction within specified zones. Present buildings are exempt from the restrictions.

Property Protection

These tools of planning work for the benefit of all property owners. They guarantee them protection, for example, from a type of building that is not in harmony with the neighborhood. In this way, residential zones are protected from encroachment by industries or business places. The latter also would have similar protection in that zones would be set aside for them.

We reiterate our conviction that the need for planning and zoning is urgent. Therefore, we implore the county commissioners to appropriate sufficient funds to the Planning Commission for hiring a planning consultant to make the necessary study.

Any appropriation the county is obliged to make for this purpose will be more than offset in savings that will accrue to the property owners in protected values.

LAMP BLACK

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Middle East Diversion

It is difficult to read a man's mind but it is becoming increasingly evident that Khrushchev employed the Middle East as a diversion to make it easier for him to achieve his bloodless purge within the Soviet world. In Russia, Hungary, Poland and East Germany.

Within Russia, his success seems to have been complete. In Hungary he put down a revolt with a brutality rarely witnessed and the surprising fact is that world resentment has not been as great as it should have been. In Poland, he was not altogether successful. The East German situation remains liquid. His peace with Tito is tenuous.

Meanwhile, he has been able to rid himself of Molotov who opposed his Arabic policy, of Malenkov who opposed his anti-Semitism, of Shepilov who had changed his mind about the Middle East, and of Kaganovich, the last Jew in any position of power in Russia.

The Middle East diversion includes prospects of a universal war. This Khrushchev has apparently been willing to risk, but nobody can know for sure, on the assumption that the fighting would begin as a local, limited war, first involving Syria and Egypt as partners against Jordan, then against Israel, and bringing in Turkey and Iraq before Soviet Russia needs to be committed.

It is doubtful whether Soviet Russia would regard it as necessary to act unless the United States stepped in and Turkey actually took Syria. It is to be presumed that Khrushchev would prefer this not to be the universal war, but he needs a cover for his activities in the Soviet world, which under Stalin was forming into a universal state, but is actually now seething on the periphery.

Stalin had developed a bureaucracy of technicians, factory managers and such, watched by his secret police, who carried through his program. Khrushchev found that in 1956, the real opposition to him came from the technocrats led by Malenkov and Kaganovich, and they nearly got rid of him.

Khrushchev is destroying the power of the technocrats, is elevating the party secretaries, and by a process of decentralization is breaking up the Moscow bureaucracy. Using the war scare, Khrushchev is following the classical lines of the rise to power of a dictator.

As long as British interest was paramount in the Middle East, Russia limited its activities to propaganda and infiltration.

Two years ago, Khrushchev decided that British influence was gone and that it could not be revived. Also, following Leninist thinking, Khrushchev decided that in the competition between British and American capitalism, it would be the United States that would eventually push the British out of the Middle East, which more or less happened during the Suez crisis.

Every people boasts that it descends from the beginning of time and the apologists for each country find an historical basis for everlasting existence. Arab nationalism, in its current manifestations, is something very new and different from anything in the previous history of this people. Soviet Russia, however, had no difficulty in stimulating this nationalism for its fire was already burning, as it has throughout Asia since the beginning of this century.

Russia's principal means for establishing friendship has been the supply of arms to these countries. The politicians in each country were able to boast that there were no political strings tied to these various arms deals. This is probably true as in each of these countries, a Communist Party exists, fellow-traveler groups exist, and a large group of instructors and experts accompany each deal, many of whom are political agents, especially trained in the art of propaganda and mass articulation.

Much trouble could have been avoided if after the Sinal campaign, this country had not rescued Nasser. But to the surprise of all the world, the United States adopted a common attitude with Soviet Russia in the United Nations and Nasser was rescued. This, from an American standpoint, was a strange policy and no explanation thus far offered for it has been convincing. It came close to destroying NATO and the Baghdad Alliance.

The Russians supplied arms not only to Egypt but to Syria and Yemen. Syria is now completely dominated by Russia, even more so than Egypt. It is through Syria that the pipelines go which carry the oil from Iraq and other countries to the Mediterranean. Therefore, the inclusion of Syria in the Soviet Universal State imperils the whole of Western Europe.

Robert S. Allen Reports . . .

Safe Fallout Limit

By Rep. Chet Holifield Chairman, Joint Atomic Subcommittee on Radiation

Washington, Sept. 18 — Experts differ on what the "worry limit" of radioactive fallout should be, but it is significant that they do not disagree very much.

Dr. Shields Warren, former director of biology and medicine for the Atomic Energy Commission, testified before my subcommittee that he "would be reluctant to see the average Strontium-90 content of bones, particularly in children, go much above ten times the present level." Other witnesses seemed to agree with him on this "worry limit."

It must be realized that the Strontium-90 content of children's bones will increase when more Strontium falls out and finds its way into the food supply. This means that we are considerably less than ten times away from the safe limit.

We may be only 3 or 5 times from the "worry limit." That is what worries scientists in this country and in other lands.

Strontium-90 is finding its way into many channels of man's food supply. The Japanese measure the Strontium-90 content of their rice. We keep a constant check on the Strontium-90 level of our milk.

This substance gains entry into plant and animal life because it acts as a chemical companion to calcium. If the plant needs calcium it also takes up Strontium. Studies made by the Department of Agriculture are still under way, but they show that most plants take up Strontium blindly and do not discriminate against it.

Once locked in plants, the Strontium is on its way into the food supply.

Dairy cattle take in the Strontium that happened to be in the grass or feed. Fortunately, only a fraction of this Strontium finds its way into the cow's milk. Due to the cow's physiological mechanism, much of the Strontium is blocked out of the milk.

This built-in road block against Strontium is most fortunate for our children since they derive so much of their needed calcium from dairy products. It reduces, but does not eliminate, the intake of Strontium-90.

Just as the cow manages to block out much of the Strontium in its feed, so do humans discriminate against Strontium. In other words, when Strontium enters the human system, it is not received as though it were a twin brother of calcium. It gets treated as though it were a more distant relative.

Some of the Strontium is blocked out and does not remain in humans. Again, this is very fortunate, for otherwise people today would contain considerably more Strontium-90 than they actually do.

What happens to the Strontium-90 once it gets inside people? It behaves like calcium and is absorbed in living bone. We know this on the basis of experimental measurements of bones taken from humans and from corpses.

Every person on this planet now probably contains a measurable amount of Strontium-90 in his or her skeleton. Prior to the advent of atomic energy no such contaminant existed. Thus Strontium-90 is a brand new additive to our internal environment.

Since not all the Strontium from bomb tests to date has fallen out, and since not all that which has fallen has found its way into the human food supply, we have only a fraction of the amount of Strontium which we will have at some time in the future. And we must constantly keep in mind the fact that more bombs are being tested with each passing year.

After hearing a number of experts discuss radioactive fallout, my Subcommittee convened these experts in a round-table discussion. We soon found that these experts agreed, within limits, upon the amount of bomb testing which could be done safely in a given year.

They agreed that somewhere between 2 and 10 megatons of atoms could be injected into the stratosphere each year without undue biological risk on a global basis.

This means that the total explosiveness from nuclear bombs should not exceed 2 to 10 million tons of TNT equivalent per year.

The H-bomb that the U. S. tested in the Pacific on March 1, 1954, approximated this 10 megaton upper limit of safety. It is possible to fabricate a single bomb with five times this explosiveness.

This means that unless some element of control is introduced into the testing of nuclear weapons, it is possible for a single bomb to overshoot the "worry limit."

It is true that new types of bombs have been developed which are not "all dirty." But it is equally true that no "all clean" bomb has been developed. Every nuclear weapon exploded adds a measurable amount of radioactivity to the earth's atmosphere.

Whether we like it or not, whether the Atomic Energy Commission knows it or not, radioactive fallout has become a great and crucial problem of our times.

Harry Freedman, owner of Harry's Farm, has apparently done it again.

At least that's what this reporter has been told.

Harry, who is soon to head "King Chicken Coops," a concern in the Miami, Fla. area, displayed his cooking ability last weekend.

At the last moment I found it impossible to visit at Harry's spot along the Delaware River, and I'm told I missed a real treat.

Freedman was serving fried chicken and french fried platters for 50 cents. The addition of vegetable soup cost 25 cents more.

The service took place last Saturday and Sunday and everyone on hand apparently went away well satisfied.

17th Wyckoff-Sears Agriculture Exhibition Underway Today

Trio Of Counties On Agenda

THE 17th annual vocational agriculture and home economics educational exhibition, sponsored by Wyckoff-Sears, opens this morning at the store's parking lot on Quaker Alley. It will continue through Saturday.

Vocational agriculture competition is open to any youth studying vocational agriculture in the secondary schools of Monroe County; Bangor and Pen Argyl High Schools in Northampton County and Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School, Wayne County.

The home economics exhibit is open to girls in Grades seven through 12 of the same schools. Judging in this competition will begin at 9 a. m. today, with prizes awarded at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Prize donors in the vocational agriculture competition include The Daily Record, Monroe County Clearing House Assn., Sears-Roebuck Foundation, J. C. Penney Co., and Henry Tucker, Chevrolet dealer.

Contributors to the home economics prizes also include Tucker's agency and Harry M. Albert of the E. A. Bell Insurance Co.

The Sears-Roebuck Foundation has contributed $400 to promotion of the exhibit. All prizes, other than those mentioned, are contributed by Wyckoff-Sears.

The agriculture exhibit will include judging of purebred dairy heifers, with special prizes under that category, swine (any breed), ewe sheep (any breed), poultry (two pullets), capons, potatoes, field corn, small grain, eggs, vegetables and Future Farmers of America judging contests.

The home economics competition will include leisure time activities, canned vegetables, canned meats, canned fruit, jellies, display of jams and jellies, display of canned fruits, display of canned vegetables, frozen vegetables, frozen fruits, cakes and flower arrangements.

Clark Points Out Weaknesses Of Pacts

In the prepared text of his address last night, Clark criticized the whole recent history of such inter-state compacts. "Not only did Incode fail on the Delaware—the device has practically crept to a halt as a method of dealing with the Colorado," he said. Such agreements have proved equally unsuccessful along the Yellowstone, Missouri and other major river basins, he said.

Sen. Clark blamed poor public relations as "one reason we are no further ahead after 35 years of effort on the Delaware." Until recently, he went on, "no serious effort has ever been made to sell the people in (this) basin the need for comprehensive river valley planning."

"And the corollary of this final lesson must be relations with officials of local governmental units. There is no sound reason why township supervisors, county commissioners, mayors and city councilmen . . . and State legislators should not enthusiastically support the final plan," he said. "But if we do not keep them advised as we go along, they will kill it as sure as we all sit here."

Good public relations does not mean "handing out press releases from an office in Philadelphia or Trenton," he said. "What we need is Fuller brushmen to put our ideas before local government groups . . . and when they knock on the door they'd better be well informed."

The senator told the group that "The first and greatest commandment (on the Delaware) is: Let's do a thorough, comprehensive job, based on a sound, carefully thought-through plan which covers all of the many assets and liabilities which Delaware water produces."

He urged the group to recognize openly the fact that "substantial participation by the Federal government is essential." He then said: "To think that local and State Interests can do the job by themselves . . . is mere wishful thinking. We need not only many millions of Federal tax dollars, but, not less important, we need Federal administrative talent."

"If the history of the last 30 years on the Delaware tells us anything, it is that we can't do the job ourselves. If we don't fight for Federal help we aren't going to get it. The help we need will continue to go to the Columbia, the Colorado, the Tennessee and the Missouri . . . and our tax dollars will pay for it," he said.

Sen. Clark emphasized that he did not mean pressing for Federal funds before the comprehensive plan to be done by the Corps of Engineers is finished. But, in an interview earlier yesterday, he said that "if we want this job done we're going to have to keep pounding away for speedy completion of the survey."

Once that overall study is finished, he said, a full-scale and intensive drive for Federal aid in development of the Delaware basin will be an absolute necessity.

Bushkill Youth Caught In Store

BUSHKILL — A 17-year-old Bushkill youth was apprehended by Milford State police yesterday and is being detained pending further investigation.

The youth is charged with burglarizing a soda fountain operated by Steven Barr of Bushkill.

Barr said a light was spotted inside the building by "Rick" DePue, owner of the next door restaurant, who called Barr and told him someone was inside his store.

Barr immediately came to the store and with the help of "Rick" and Lawrence DePue caught the youth inside the store.

Prisoners Escape Jail In Carbon

JIM THORPE—Three prisoners escaped from the Carbon County Prison here about 6:40 p. m. yesterday by scaling the north wall.

State Police of the Lehigh County barracks identified them as Gerald Pohido, McAdoo; John Opolnik, Palmerton, and William Minnich, Allentown.

All were wearing blue dungarees and work shirts when they escaped.

No information was immediately available on why they had been sentenced to the prison.

Provision Ruled Unconstitutional

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Justice Department today ruled unconstitutional a provision in a 1957 appropriation law which would have limited the payment of three million dollars in state aid to local health units only to counties receiving such aid of last July 19.

Less than a half dozen counties are eligible for such financial assistance. Others have the question of joining in the plan before them.

Tentative Decision

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced a tentative decision to go ahead with proposed trial demonstrations of subscription television service, possibly sometime next year.

Mental Health Association Reveals Date For Survey

MONROE COUNTY MENTAL Health Assn. last night fixed Nov. 15 as completion date for its survey to determine needs in its field.

With Mrs. Arthur Henning, president, in charge, members heard a thorough discussion of the survey questionnaire. This was presented by Rev. Robert Galligan who will supervise the county-wide survey.

Copies of the questionnaire were distributed to survey teams in the meeting. Drafts, with suggested revisions, are to be returned to Mrs. Henning no later than Oct. 4.

At the same time the organization drew up more complete plans for its educational program within the county. A major factor in that program will be arrangements for lectures by qualified experts in the mental health field before local organization.

Dramatic Play

The group will also present a special dramatic play titled "The Room Upstairs." Mrs. Harold Flagler has had wide experience in the production of plays for local audiences. She is best known for her direction of scenes from "Saint Joan" by Bernard Shaw and Christopher Fry's "The Boy in the Cart."

Miss Helen Brown reported that a copy of the local questionnaire has been sent to officials at Allentown State Hospital. The local sub-committee assigned to study of that institution will visit the hospital on October 2, Miss Brown announced.

A budget and finance committee was named. It consists of Mrs. Claude Leister, George Rung and Mrs. Lawrence Muselman. An estimated $350 to $400 will be needed for the annual maintenance of the Association, members were told.

In his report on the county survey, Father Galligan suggested four main points which, he said, would result in expediting the work to be done. The points:

First, establishment of a deadline for the study's completion (see above); second, setting up of a "priority list" of necessary contacts in all fields; third, stressing that the survey's purpose is to show approximately how many persons in Monroe County are in need of emotional or mental assistance which is not presently available, and fourth, to show what the aim of the organization itself must be.

Persons who will be contacted in connection with the survey will be sent letters of explanation, the group said. All professional and agency personnel are especially asked to cooperate with the survey in any way possible. It will be the first full-scale attempt to study psychiatric-psychological needs in Monroe County.

Flu Claims 19 Lives

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Asian flu was blamed tonight for the deaths of 15 adults and 4 children in the Midlands and north England. Hundreds of thousands of Britons were stricken in the spreading epidemic and confined to bed.

Some industries were crippled by absence of manpower, schools were closed and hospitals were sorely over-burdened.

Authorities

No total casualty figures were compiled by health authorities but towns and cities in the affected areas reported influenza victims running into tens of thousands at different places. Schools that stayed open were operating with from 20 to 50 per cent absent.

Dr. C. H. Shaw, deputy medical officer in the steel town of Sheffield, said he attributed 14 recent deaths there to epidemic. "There is little doubt," he said, "that some of the cases started with flu and turned to pneumonia."

More than 15,000 pupils were absent from Sheffield schools.

Government Rests Case In Signal Depot Trial

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—A witness testified today a Philadelphia paint contractor supplied the money used in an alleged bribery attempt during construction of the 33-million dollar U.S. Army Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna.

The witness, John J. O'Donnell of Moscow, Pa., was employed as a government inspector on the construction job. He said he was offered a bribe by Frank P. Laurelli of Philadelphia on behalf of John B. Kemmel, Philadelphia painting contractor. O'Donnell testified shortly before the government rested its case against Laurelli, who is charged with perjury and attempted bribery.

The defense attorney, Fred DiBona, opened his case after U.S. District Judge John W. Murphy denied a motion of a directed verdict of acquittal.

O'Donnell told the jury of eight men and four women that Laurelli offered him a roll of bills in late February or early March of 1954 if he would overlook the omission of certain work called for in Kemmel's contract. The work involved was the painting of steel beams on buildings at the depot.

O'Donnell testified he refused the money and told Laurelli to tell Kemmel "he doesn't have enough money to buy me."

Laurelli is accused of trying to bribe O'Donnell and Paul Judge of Scranton, another government inspector. Judge testified earlier he had been offered $20 a week to overlook omissions in the work. Laurelli was superintendent for the Kemmel firm, which held a half-million dollar contract for painting work at the depot. Kemmel is also under indictment, along with 13 other persons, and will face trial later. He is accused of fraud. Also awaiting trial is U.S. Rep. William Green, chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic Committee.

The indictments followed a lengthy investigation by a federal grand jury of alleged irregularities in construction of the depot.

Object Viewed Saylorburg In Sky

RAYMOND Jagers Sr., Delaware Water Gap, reportedly spotted what he called a "Flying Saucer" Tuesday night about 10.

Jagers reported he looked out the window and saw a yellow looking object in the north. He then called the rest of the family and watched with binoculars and saw it had a tail. The object moved toward Stroudsburg and disappeared in about 10 minutes. Other people in Delaware Water Gap also reportedly saw the object.

Henry Lessig, Bartonsville, town, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Callie and son Sammy, East Bangor, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nancy Metzgar visited at the home of Mrs. Esther Tucker, Stroudsburg.

Clark Opposes Girard Ruling

By Leonard Randolph

ATTEMPTS to keep Negro orphans out of Girard College in Philadelphia have put Pennsylvania in the same light with Mississippi and other segregationist areas where foreign nations are concerned, Sen. Joseph S. Clark said yesterday.

Sen. Clark made the comment in a tape-recorded interview. The interview will be broadcast over Radio Station WVVO today at 1:30 p.m. It deals with integration, the Tocks Island Dam and Congressional hearings on alleged corruption in U.S. labor.

Discussion of Girard College arose out of Clark's comments on the tense school situation in Little Rock. Speaking on civil rights in general, Clark commented that he feels the present legislation passed by Congress "is an important step forward (but) it didn't go as far as I'd hoped it would."

Part three of the original bill passed by the House of Representatives would have permitted the Attorney General to step in and protect the rights of citizens in a variety of cases and not just where voting rights were abridged, he noted. Clark favored the broader provision.

As a result of the "threat of a filibuster" which "was hovering over all of us," Clark said "I feel more strongly than ever before we have to get rules through the Senate to limit debate." Anti-filibuster legislation has never proved successful before the Senate.

Asked to comment specifically on the actions of Arkansas Governor Orval Faubus, Clark said that he feels that a majority of Arkansas citizens would not openly oppose integration in schools. He said that he was "disappointed" that President Eisenhower had not taken a stronger stand in the integration issue, however.

"The important thing to do is keep our heads and insist . . . that Federal law shall prevail," he went on. He said he hopes that this more patient attitude "won't call for any postponement" in integration of schools but that "the process must be gradual so that the South will have no cause to rebel."

Clark lets five States in which he feels integration will be difficult. They were Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Louisiana. He said he thinks the "break will come first in cities (because) urban residents are, in some ways closer to the world outside . . ."

From the American standpoint, the senator said, difficulties over racial integration are causing enormous damage abroad. But this damage is not being done by southern states alone, he said.

"The Girard College decision has been a shocking thing and a deterrent to American prestige abroad," he said. Clark was referring to efforts to prevent two Negro orphans from entering Girard College in Philadelphia. The college was set up under the will of Stephen Girard as a charitable trust. It provides education for white boys who do not have fathers.

A previous refusal by Girard College trustees (the Philadelphia City Board) to allow the Negro applicants to enter was reversed by the U.S. Supreme Court. In Philadelphia, at present, the Orphans Court is attempting to transfer trusteeship of the college from a public board to a group of private citizens.

This decision was "born in lawbooks" and not with understanding of human nature, Clark said. Girard College will now have to "go as far away as Utah to find qualified white orphan boys to enter and there are hundreds of Negro boys in Pennsylvania who would qualify and need the education," he said.

"I don't think they realize the use Pravda and Izvestia (Soviet official newspapers) are making of this," he went on, pointing out that in foreign countries Pennsylvania is being made to appear as "no better than Mississippi."

Sen. Clark then went on to point out that "the Girard will was made 25 years before the Civil War" and before Negroes were freed. His most direct condemnation of the Girard action came when he noted that the law says "that a charitable trust (such as Girard) must be in accord with public policy."

"This particular charitable trust contained a violation of public policy—the 14th amendment—when it was adopted as public policy," Clark said. The provisions of the will are therefore no longer valid as they were originally written, he said.

Clark concluded discussion of the case by commenting that Girard was a man of his time and that his will would never have been written "this way" if he had lived in modern times.

Services For Mrs. Frank

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Emma Jane Frank, 79 of 217 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at the Lanterman Funeral Home.

Rev. William F. Wunder officiated. Interment was made in Prospect Cemetery. Pallbearers were John T. Lambert, James Wallace, Russell and Brantley Whittaker.

Investigation Nears End

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18 (AP)—The state Justice Department today said it expects to complete within three or four weeks its investigation into cinder purchases by the state Highways Department in 19 Pennsylvania counties.

Victor Wright, deputy attorney general, said the investigation was slowed down during the last two weeks while the department prepared its case.

Two Leaders Make Move

BONN, Germany, Sept. 18 (AP)—Two West German leaders, powerful figures in Sunday's elections, were reported today to have launched a behind-the-scenes campaign for the potentially influential post of vice chancellor.

They are Ludwig Erhard, 60, the present economics minister; and Franz Josef Strauss, 41, the defense minister.

Candidate Erhard would be an outstanding candidate to succeed Konrad Adenauer should the 51-year-old Chancellor leave the political scene during the next four years.

Adenauer has shown no inclination to step down, particularly since he has been given the great public endorsement ever achieved by a German leader in a free vote.

But Adenauer is nearly 62 years old and the German public is engaged in a great guessing game as to who might be his successor.

1,000 To Be Affected By Ruling

HARRISBURG — More than 1,000 maintenance and fare collection employees will be affected by a recent 40-hour work week resolution adopted by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. It was revealed yesterday by Commission Vice-Chairman Merritt A. Williamson.

In announcing the Commission decision, Dr. Williamson said, "The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission is continuing its policy of improving working conditions for all of its personnel. In adopting a 40-hour work week schedule, for those workers who previously worked 42 or more hours weekly or who worked staggered schedules that made work loads heavy some weeks and light at other times, the commission directed all departments to revise their work schedules so that regular tours of duty will not exceed five work days in any one week period.

New Schedules
"The new schedules will of course be arranged to use the present manpower to the fullest possible extent, and thus keep the need for hiring additional employees to a minimum. The new resolution does not affect those commission employees who previously have come under the 40-hour work week. Salaried employees now covered by the resolution will receive additional benefits because of the reduced number of hours now applicable to the salaries in effect, and employees who are called upon to work extra hours due to an emergency will receive a better monetary return," Dr. Williamson said.

The vice-chairman pointed out that all commission employees receive in addition to a 15 day paid annual leave, the benefits of paid hospital care provided by Capitol Hospital Service (Blue Cross) and medical service coverage through Medical Service Association of Pennsylvania (Blue Shield).

"Until the complete plan is fully integrated and working throughout the entire system, the actual cost of the new resolution, to the commission, cannot be determined," Dr. Williamson said in conclusion.

Gra-Y Club Plans Event

MONROE County YMCA invites all Grade School boys in Stroudsburg and in East Stroudsburg to join the Gra-Y Club which meets every Friday at 4 p.m. The first meeting of the year will be held tomorrow. Tomorrow's meeting will be an organization meeting and all boys should bring a swim suit and a towel as the group will go swimming in the Y pool.

Low Bid Received For College Dorm

SMELTZER and Faherty of Scranton yesterday was the apparent low bidder for test borings on a women's dormitory at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. The bid was $1,940.

The General State Authority, in announcing the bid, pointed out it has allocated $800,000 for the dorm to house 200 women.

The building will also house clothes washing facilities, an office, a dean's apartment and other rooms on the ground and basement floors.

Dates For Meeting

OTTAWA, Sept. 18 (AP) — The joint Canada-United States committee on trade and economic affairs meets in Washington Oct. 7 and 8. It was announced tonight, Canada will be represented by four cabinet ministers.

Change Made In Schedule

CHURCHES in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic parish return to the regular schedule of Masses effective this Sunday. Masses will be heard on Sundays at these times: St. Matthew's at 7, 9 and 11:30 a.m.; St. Luke's at 8 and 10 a.m., and at Bushkill (St. John's) at 9:30 a.m. There will be no Masses at Delaware Water Gap.

Government Under Fire

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18 (AP)—A union official today criticized some state and local branches of government for not establishing and enforcing more rigid employee safety regulations.

Reuben H. Miller, president of the Pennsylvania State Employees

Council (AFL-CIO) said state and local governments many times "don't practice what they preach about safety."

Fire Prevention Week To Mark 50th Anniversary

NEW YORK—The National Board of Fire Underwriters said here yesterday that Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6-12, will mark the 50th anniversary of organized fire prevention activities in this country.

While no special national celebration is being conducted, communities everywhere will emphasize the value of fire prevention work, such as the annual fire prevention and safety campaigns, the town inspections, the engineering surveys of the fire protection facilities of cities, the extensive research by insurance companies, and the many and varied contributions by public and private agencies outside the fire insurance business.

Oldest

Among the oldest of organized activities are the town inspections. These are community-wide fire safety educational campaigns, usually sponsored by local Chambers of Commerce and carried out with the technical assistance of local fire prevention associations.

According to the National Board, town inspections originated 50 years ago in the Middle West and later spread to the East, South, Southwest and West Coast—even to Alaska. They represent one of the most popular public services of the capital stock fire insurance business and about 4,000 have been conducted.

This year The Daily Record will present a large trophy to the "Fireman of the Year" in Monroe County, Pa. The winner will be chosen from 17 companies by an impartial board.

Second Crash Victim

EPHRAATA, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—Harry W. Ludwig, 28, Denver Rd., Lancaster County, died in Ephrata Community Hospital today, the second victim of a crash Saturday night between two motorcycles.

Fashion Show Tonight At YMCA Given By Y-Gradale

Styles for Fall and Winter will be featured in the fashion show to be presented tonight at the YMCA at 8 by the Y-Gradale Sorority. The clothes will be modeled by club members and their children, with other members assisting behind the scenes.

The complete list of models includes:

Joan Somers and daughter, Debbie; Mrs. Charles Greiner, Jane LeBarre, Lillian Bergman and daughter, Carol Ann; Mildred Shaw and children, Cathy and Eddie; Myrna Spangler, Nancy Quarlesimo and daughter, Annette; Dorothy Anderson, Robert Caramella, Donna Ayers, Giovanni DeRenzi, Jean Taylor, Elizabeth Papson, Susan Sommers, Carol Ann Shafer, Robert Cooke, June Greiner, Florence Luckey, Carol Willhite, Audrey Mannix. The show is being presented by Wyckoff's Store.

Final plans for the fashion show, proceeds from which will be used for the World Service Fund and local charities, were made at the opening sorority meeting of the year. A covered dish supper preceded the meeting. Programs for the year were distributed and all committees were named. Hostesses for the supper were Shirley Congdon, Kathryn Marsh, Alma Schaller and Joan Somers.

Cocktail Party Held At Peck Home

Del. Water Gap — Sunday, Sept. 15, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jack Peck of Franklin Hill, East Stroudsburg entertained at a cocktail party to celebrate their new home in Monroe County. It was also a farewell party since they are leaving for their home in Florida this month, where they spend the winters. A barbecue filet mignon party was held on the lawn.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Cramer of East Stroudsburg RD; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rinschert of Stroudsburg RD; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mikes, Mr. and Mrs. James Scanlon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Small all of Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Perry and family of Sand Hill and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Peck.

JUST FOR FUN—in the white hat and muff which Annette Quarlesimo is so delighted with. The coat is of pale blue fleece and the dress with pleated skirt is of chartreuse cotton with cotton lace trimming.

PTA Sets Open House For Jr. High

The members of the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Assn. entered into a discussion of the pros and cons to have two Parent-Teacher groups within a school system, one for the parents of elementary pupils and one for parents of Junior-Senior students.

The open discussion followed a talk by Roger Dunning, supervisor of elementary education in Stroud Union School district, who outlined the advantages and disadvantages from the viewpoint of the administration and of the parents. James Gillilan led the discussion period.

No action was taken. Mrs. William Palmer, president, presided at the meeting. The invocation was given by Rev. Frank Winger.

An open house will be held at the Junior High School on October 14, it was announced, as a separate event rather than as part of the PTA program.

Open House Will Honor Mrs. Blitz

Saylorsburg — Mrs. Katie Jones will hold open house at her home in Saylorsburg on September 22, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Emma Blitz. Mrs. Blitz will be 93 years old on September 24. Friends of Mrs. Blitz are invited to call on Sunday.

Card Party, Rummage On Jr's List

Two more special projects have been announced by the project teams of the Stroudsburg Junior Woman's Club at the board meeting held on Wednesday night with Mrs. Robert Bixler presiding. The club has been divided into teams to sponsor fund raising events for the welfare and charitable work of the organization.

A rummage sale is being sponsored by Mrs. Richard Primrose's team on October 23 and 24 at 316 Main St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Primrose, 2033-R-11 and Mrs. William Pipher, 5277, will pick up donations if they are called.

A card party has been planned for the team headed by Mrs. Paul Edinger Jr. on Wednesday, November 13 at the YMCA with tickets to be distributed by all the club members.

A covered dish supper on October 1 at 6:30 will open the year's activities for the club. It was announced. Friends and prospective members are invited.

One project, a bake sale, has already been completed. Jean Smith announced they had made $75 at the sale.

ITU Aux. Has Reports From Convention

Mary Melick and 11 other members of the Woman's Int. Aux. 113 to the Int. Typographical Union reported on the annual convention in New York City in August at the meeting of the local auxiliary.

It was the first Fall meeting with a large attendance. Committees were appointed. Margaret Snover, label chairman, will have union-made greeting cards.

A pizza party at Albino's followed the meeting.

Girl Scout Board

The board of the Girl Scout Council will meet tonight at 8 at the Girl Scout House with Mrs. LeRoy Koehler presiding.

It was very like "Old Home Week" at the Plaza Theatre the other evening when a sizable audience gathered to see the Italian motion picture, "La Strada", and before the picture began there was a great deal of visiting back and forth. Right around me, in addition to Antoinette Vianello, Mrs. Weston Fenner, and Kay Phillips (formerly of Stroudsburg, and now of Washington, D. C.), were Mona and Frank Fitzgerald, Marcia Clapp, her mother, and her husband, Jovan DeRocco, "Tony" Hoffman, Mrs. Bruce Fleming, Ralph Smith, director of drama at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Delores Lesoiné, and Lou Metz, of Waring Enterprises.

It was almost like a party, and while opinions varied on the film itself, everyone seemed to agree that the acting was superb, and that pathetically wistful Giulietta Masina, the tousle-haired blonde actress with sad dark eyes, has more warmth and pathos than is ever found in the figure conscious American starlets of our day.

The management of the Plaza is to be commended, I feel, in planning to bring outstanding foreign films to the Stroudsburgs. This picture was sad, to be sure . . . in the way that "The Grapes of Wrath" was sad. But it was lyrically beautiful too, and, perhaps, through studying the ARTS of other peoples, we will be drawn nearer to their HEARTS . . . another step on the long, rocky road to international understanding.

Big things are under way this week at Wyckoff's. Not only will today, tomorrow and Saturday, be $55555 Days in the Stroudsburgs — they will be Farm Show Days. Frequent visitors to our advertising office right now are Mary Hall and Wilmer Frisbie, who are supervising this 17th annual Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics fair. Mr. Frisbie tells me that the dry weather has, to some extent, cut down on the number of exhibits this year, but that the show promises to be of its usual high caliber.

From my point of view, one of the most interesting things about this year's Farm Show is the Sears Wishing Well, which will make it possible for some very lucky person to see his or her dream come true. As I understand it, anyone visiting Wyckoff-Sears during the show, will be invited to register, and state what merchandise, available in the Sears Department, would be his choice if his wishes were to come true. If he (or she) is the winner, that merchandise will be the prize. Wonderful? Of course it is . . . it's like having the opportunity, for one brief moment, to hold a magic lamp in your hands and summon the Genie. Not everyone will win . . . but SOMEONE will. Why not you? Coupons will be available in all departments.

This evening at 8 o'clock Wyckoff fashions will be shown at the YMCA gymnasium under auspices of the Gradale Sorority. Proceeds will be used for charitable purposes, such as the sending of Christmas boxes to Monroe County's patients in tubercular sanitariums. If you can attend, please accept a most cordial invitation. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Protection Of Child Is PTA's Main Function, County Delegates Told

Parent-Teachers Associations' main objective should be legislation to provide adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth, not only for the children in their community, but for all the children, the delegates attending the workshop session of the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers were told.

Dr. Raymond Koch, superintendent of Columbia Borough Schools, warned the delegates that local PTA's should not be drawn away from their most important function which is protection of the children, approached from a politically non-partisan basis.

PTA, on the other hand, cannot legislate morals, he said, but must sell the public on what they want. Dr. Koch also stressed the importance of cooperation between school board and PTA with mutual understanding of common problems.

The workshop for local leaders was held on Saturday at the Arlington Heights School with 50 delegates representing 10 school units. Mrs. Lester Katz presided and introduced the officers and chairmen who will serve the county for the coming year. Mrs. Katz also instructed unit presidents and vice presidents on their duties for the coming year. Mrs. John Black led a workshop for secretaries and treasurers.

Miss Susan Warner Bride Of Sterling V. Miller

The Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, was the scene of the early fall wedding of Miss Susan Ann Warner, daughter of William E. Warner and the late Mrs. Emma Warner, of 538 Lenox St., Stroudsburg, to Sterling V. Miller, son of Mrs. Cora Miller and the late Calvin Miller, of Stroudsburg RD 3.

Rev. Frank H. Blatt performed the ceremony on Sunday, September 15, before the altar banked with bouquets of white flowers. Mrs. Lucy Quig was organist and Mrs. Alberta Yutz was soloist. Her songs included "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of imported lace, and net chignon. The bodice of lace was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The full skirt was of chiffon. She wore a crown of sequins with a short veil.

Mrs. Jean Blair, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina gown of blue velvet with a matching velvet hat.

Edward T. Blair, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Earl F. Warner and Kenneth Stevens.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white flowers. The bridegroom's mother wore a print dress with black accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for relatives and friends in the social rooms of the church, which had been decorated with fresh flowers, candles and wedding bells.

Leaving for a wedding trip through the New England States, the bride wore a powder blue knit dress with powder blue velvet hat, navy accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. Miller was graduated from Stroudsburg High School and has been employed at the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Miller, a graduate of Pocono Township High School, is self employed on his dairy farm.

Miss Patricia A. Darling

Miss Darling Engaged To C.W. Kile Jr.

DR. AND MRS. L. T. Powers, Mt. Pocono, announce the engagement of their niece, Patricia A. Darling to C. Wilson Kile, Jr., Drexel Hill, Pa., son of Mr. Charles W. Kile, Hialeah, Fla.

Miss Darling is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and Beaver College. She is presently employed as a teacher by the Springfield Township School District, Montgomery County.

Mr. Kile was graduated from Upper Darby High School and attended Franklin and Marshall College. He is employed by Hubbert, Cooke & Co., manufacturers' representatives, Havertown.

Parish medium-sized pared potatoes about 15 minutes before adding them to the pan in which the roast is cooking. Allow about an hour in the oven for the potatoes.

REVISED CIVIL DEFENSE Air Raid Instructions

Published by the Federal Civil Defense Administration

TAKE COVER SIGNAL

Wailing tone or short blasts for 3 minutes on sirens, whistles, horns, or similar devices.

WHAT TO DO

At Home: Get into your home shelter immediately.

If you have none, shut all outside doors and windows and take cover in the basement or a first-floor room.

Outdoors: Seek the best available cover.

Stay Put until you get word to come out.

Important: If you see a bright flash of light, take cover instantly.

ALERT SIGNAL

A steady blast of 3 to 5 minutes on sirens, whistles, horns, or similar devices.

WHAT TO DO

Do not use the telephone.

Tune your AM radio to a Conelrad station (640 or 1240 kc) for emergency instructions.

Do not become panicky if your radio is silent for a short time.

This is necessary to switch to emergency broadcasting frequencies.

Know your local civil defense emergency plans. Obey police and civil defense instructions.

640—REMEMBER CONELRAD IS THE KEY—1240

Today—throughout the schools of Monroe County—10,000 of the above "Civil Defense Air Raid Instructions" cards will be distributed to the school children. Judge Fred W. Davis, Director of Monroe County Civil Defense, calls to the attention of all parents to read and study these air raid instructions. Get to know the signals, know what to do. These signals WILL be used during an emergency. If you desire more air raid instructions cards for home or business use, they can be secured at the Monroe County Civil Defense office, Court House, Room 7, Stroudsburg.

Zion Guild Hears Details Of Merger

THE RECENT merger of the Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Church was the theme of the talk given at the opening meeting of the Women's Guild of Zion United Church of Christ, now part of the merged churches.

Rev. Frank H. Blatt, pastor. In speaking of "Our Denomination" pointed out that the form of worship will remain the same.

At the meeting a report of the Cedar Crest Summer conference was given by the delegates: Mrs. Fred Quig, Mrs. Clem Crossdale, Mrs. Ruth Lender, Mrs. Russell Drake and Mrs. Jennie Hoffman.

Miss Helen Shick led the opening devotion on "The Church—Our Household of Faith." Mrs. Ruth Anglemeyer sang "Lord, Let Me Live Today".

Mrs. Claude Beldier conducted the business meeting.

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (U-P)—Every fall you read that some college football coach, hearing that the man assigned to scout his team had been caught in a snowdrift or missed train connections and failed to make the game, has sent a complete report of his team's plays to the rival school.

It's all done very quietly, of course. Nobody is told about the Beau Geste except the reporters and a few other disinterested parties, who are warned not to mention it, at least without using the coach's name.

Anyway, we never thought such kindly consideration would be observed in the prize fight business, yet here we have Carmen Basilio and Ray Robinson, who meet at Yankee Stadium next Monday night to see who leaves the ring with Robinson's middleweight title exchanging scouting reports.

Diagram

Basilio was the first to diagram his plays. In a magazine article, complete with sketches, he explained just what tactics he was going to use against his heavier rival.

Now Robinson, not to be outdone from the sportsman's standpoint, in a publicity release explains his own formations and when he is liable to use certain plays.

It's strictly psychological warfare, with the idea that if a fighter starts to think, and to try to remember what tactics the other fellow said he was going to do, he would become properly confused, particularly if he took a right to the chin when the blueprint called for a left hook to the body.

Now in friendly fights a man is liable to follow the tactics he has outlined, and if he says "I'm going to punch you right in the nose" you may be sure he's going to try to do just that. But in a battle between professionals the announced battle plans can be taken as a smoke screen to hide real intentions, unless the plans are so simple and obvious it would be folly to try to disguise them.

You know Basilio isn't going to stand off and try to box the taller, longer armed and more clever Robinson, so when he says he's going to crowd in and hook to the ribs he isn't disclosing anything Robinson doesn't already know.

And when Robinson says he is going to take advantage of his longer reach and keep Basilio at bay with a left jab, or catch him coming in with uppercuts, he also is picturing the obvious.

Scouting Report
We think Rocky Marciano would have been pretty safe in giving a scouting report on himself to an opponent. It would have been a simple report, but it would have covered everything. Rocky would just have to say: "I plan to come out swinging right, left, right, left until something drops."

It's all a little silly, this outlining of battle plans. After all, the two fighters know each other's general style, and there are only so many moves, in boxing.

The chief factor is omitted, because a fighter himself doesn't know it. That is, when a certain punch will be thrown. Circumstances of the moment determine that. A football team might know the other team's plays, but it doesn't know when it is going to use them.

If Robinson, say, would tell Basilio: "Now I'm going to swing a right at your chin," that would be worthwhile information.

Gallant Man Blasts Mark At Belmont

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (U-P)—Gallant Man blasted another track record at Belmont Park today when he rushed down the stretch, overhauled the three leaders and eighth of a mile from home, and defeated Dedicate by a neck in the $28,350 Nassau County Handicap.

Meeting older horses for the first time in his spectacular career, the Texas-owned 3-year-old from the stable of Ralph Lowe stepped the 1 1/4 miles in 1:47.15. This clipped three-fifths of a second off Belmont's standard set by Countpoint in winning the 1951 Peter Pan Handicap.

Scatched
The late scratching of Admiral Vee, winner of the 1956 Nassau County Cup, Bureaucracy and the Greentree entry of Pop Corn and Riley left a field of seven in the race.

But Gallant Man was the boss once jockey Willie Shoemaker decided to send the Irishman after the big money.

The Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, who won the Saratoga Handicap last month, finished third. He was one length behind Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate and a neck in front of the fourth horse, Howell E. Jackson's Tick Tock, winner of the Syonby Mile at Belmont.

Cardinals Receive Order

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 18 (U-P)—The city council of Lake Charles, home of St. Louis shortstop Alvin Dark, has passed a resolution directing the Cardinals to win the National League pennant and the World Series.

The city council yesterday promised to invite every Cardinal to a duck hunt in Lake Charles if they carried out the directive.

Copies of the resolution also were sent to Milwaukee.

Eagles Obtain New Tackle

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18 (U-P)—The Philadelphia Eagles today traded a 1955 draft choice for Bob Gaona, 240-pound offensive tackle of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Veteran

Vince McNally, general manager, said Gaona, who is expected to help fill the Eagles' weakest link—offensive tackles—will report to the club in San Francisco and probably will play Sunday in the final exhibition game against the 49ers.

Gaona, 6-3, is a five year veteran of the National Football League. The Ambridge, Pa., native played his college football at Wake Forest.

McNally also disclosed the release on waivers of rookie Alvin Richardson from Grambling College, and second year man Don King of Kentucky, a pair of tackles.

Stock Market Shows Slight Improvement

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The stock market moved timidly higher today. It was the second day of small advances, but the two combined have not wiped out half of Monday's decline.

For a short time around noon it looked as if the market were really going places. Volume was higher than yesterday and most groups joined the uptrend. But buying power soon faded.

At the finish radio-televisions, tobaccos, metals and most steel and retail merchandisers showed gains. Aircrafts and sulphur stocks were lower. Oils, rails and motors were mixed.

Downward
During the last hour prices drifted downward as the market returned to its semi-somnolent state. Volume for the day at 1,540,000 shares was only slightly above yesterday's 1,400,000.

A prop under the early advance, and a factor in maintaining a good demand for retail store issues, was the Commerce Department's report personal income last month ran at a record annual rate.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks closed 30 cents higher at $173.20 with the industrials up 50 cents, rails up 10 cents and utilities unchanged.

Of 1,068 issues traded, 451 advanced and 366 declined. There were 11 new highs for the year and 40 new lows.

On the American Stock Exchange, where volume totaled 530,000 shares against 560,000 yesterday, prices were a little higher. Dumont and Hazeltine gained.

Corporate bonds ended mostly steady. U. S. governments eased.

Cause Of Fire
SOUDERTON, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—Fire Chief Henry Heller says he believes defective wiring around some soft drink and coffee machines set off a fire that destroyed a huge shirt manufacturing plant here yesterday.

Two Persons Injured In Accident On Route 196

MOUNT POCONO—Two persons were injured in a one-car accident at 1:15 a. m. yesterday on Route 196, about 10 miles south of here.

John Wester, 57, Kesslersville, was admitted to Monroe County General Hospital, East Stroudsburg, for treatment and X-rays of a possible concussion and rib fractures.

Easton Raymond Baker, 71, of 2433 Birch St., Easton, was treated at the hospital for brush burns of the right leg.

State Police of the local barracks said they were passengers in a car operated by Charles F. McBride, 72, of 1032 Washington St., Easton. Police quoted McBride as saying he was headed south on the highway when the rear of his car struck a wall, springing a door and the two passengers fell out. McBride was charged with reckless driving.

Japanese Campaign

TOKYO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Kishi is leading a campaign to revise laws that, according to critics, have let Japan become a paradise for criminal drunks. The main target is a section permitting leniency or no penalty at all for defendants found to have been drunk and thus out of control while committing crimes, including murder.

Green Thumb

Provide Evergreens With Enough Water

EVERGREENS: Few things are more provoking than a dead evergreen in the Spring. Why do evergreens winterkill? Actually, no evergreen dies from low winter temperatures. It's my opinion that most evergreens die from a lack of moisture in Summer, Fall or Winter. Fall's here so there's something you can do to get your newly planted evergreens (or old ones) ready for winter.

Give them plenty of water. All they absorb so they'll go into the winter with soil thoroughly soaked. Evergreens keep their leaves throughout the winter and that means they're going to lose water through the leaves all Winter long. They need more water in Fall and Winter than non-evergreens (trees and shrubs) which have no leaves in cold weather.

A dry Fall may be fatal to evergreens. During the Winter months moisture must come from somewhere on warm days. Especially, so it comes from the leaf tissues. The characteristic browning of the foliage—known as "winter-burn"—is the result.

So if you set out evergreens this Fall, not only water them well (three or four times a week, if possible) but also place a burlap screen around the plants to shield them from high winds and hot, bright sunshine. Mulch them with sawdust, straw or similar material to conserve moisture.

GARDEN MUMS: It's provoking to have garden mums which won't bloom before killing frosts set in. The most practical way around this is to use earlier flowering varieties, even if it means discarding some of the late ones you have. Now's a good time to take a look at mums in bloom in various gardens. They can be dug now and planted, even if in full bloom. Take a bushel basket and dig up the clumps with soil and roots, and plant these early bloomers in the garden. The plants won't wilt a bit. Next year you can divide the clumps and get all the new plants you want. There's no use growing mums if they don't put on a show before a killing frost hits them.

SOWING GRASS SEED: A common mistake in sowing grass seed is to put it on too thick. Grass seed is small, expensive, so don't waste it. If sown thickly, you get crowded, spindly grass plants. If Kentucky Bluegrass is used at the recommended rate of around two pounds per 1,000 square feet that means about 14 seeds per square inch, assuming there are about two million seeds to the pound, so you can see it takes more seed to cover the same area.

One way to sow grass seed is to measure off an area—say about 250 square feet, then carefully broadcast one-half of the seed on the area by walking up and down the plot. The balance of the seed is sown by walking across the area. We use a "cyclone" or whirling seeder, carried by a shoulder strap, but there's no reason why you can't seed by hand. The main thing is to get more even coverage by sowing half the seed in one direction, and sowing the other half at right angles to this.

Raking or rolling the seed isn't absolutely necessary, especially if the soil is heavy. A light rolling will hurry the germination of seed. If you don't roll, rake the seed lightly, covering it with about one-quarter inch or less of soil.

Above all, don't be impatient. It sometimes takes a year or two to get a lawn without some spots in it. They'll fill in.

ROSE OF SHARON: Here's a plant worth rediscovering, not only because of the many new colors available, but because it is one of the best late-Summer flowering shrubs we have. Colors range from purple, blue-violet, red, pink, and white, and some of these last right up until Jack Frost time.

Shrub-althea or Rose of Sharon isn't fussy as to soil, but may suffer from Winter injury if soil is poorly drained. One complaint we receive about it is that the flower buds develop but fail to open up. This is due to a phosphorus and potash deficiency in the soil, usually. Also hot dry soils will cause leaves to drop, as well as flower buds.

As for pruning, tall Rose of Sharon should be trimmed by cutting some of the old branches back to younger ones. If center is thick, remove some of the branches. Also cut out dead wood. Spring is best time to prune and plant the rose of Sharon.

XXI Corps Ready For Activation

INDIANTOWN GAP: Tomorrow will mark the activation date of US Army XXI Corps (Reserve) with headquarters here. Activation ceremonies will be held on Muir Field at 3 p. m.

During the ceremony, Major General Herbert J. Vander Heide, present Chief of the US Army Military District, Pa., will assume the role of XXI Corps Commander. He will present the Corps Colors to an Honor Guard comprised of troops of Headquarters Co. of the US Army Military District, Pennsylvania, and of the 555th Ordnance Company.

Under the Army's new Corps concept, the eight military districts located in states in the Second Army area will be consolidated into two Corps. In addition to the XXI Corps, XX Corps with Headquarters at Fort Hayes, Ohio, will be activated tomorrow. XX Corps will be commanded by Major General Martin J. Morin.

Gun Club Makes Plans For Season

PLANS FOR the coming season were discussed at a meeting of directors of the Farmers Gun Club of Middle Smithfield Township at the Regina Hotel Monday.

It was announced the Fall membership meeting will be held at the Regina at 8 p. m. on Friday, Oct. 11. The trap shooting contests have been scheduled at the home of Alvin DeWitt Jr., for 2 p. m. on Oct. 20 and Nov. 17.

Report

The game conservation committee reported that feeding plots planted last spring are making favorable progress despite the dry weather. The program will be expanded this Fall and next Spring.

It was announced the small game feeding stations will be filled immediately after deer season ends.

Cost Of Living Rises In Locality

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — While the cost of living during the past quarter in Pennsylvania went up 1.3 per cent to a record high — what happened in the Stroudsburg area?

It went up too, generally along the trend following throughout the state, the Department of Labor and Industry said yesterday.

A look at the food front — by far and wide the biggest single item on the cost agenda — illustrates the point for the Stroudsburg area.

Sample Items

Here are some sample items for the area indicating average cost during the past quarter, with cost during the preceding quarter noted in parenthesis:

Round steak, $1.11 per pound ($1.01); hamburger, 52c per pound (49c); veal cutlets, $1.30 per pound ($1.28); pork chops, 94c per pound (88c); lamb, 80c per pound (76c); chicken, 52c per pound (49c); butter, 74c per pound (74c); frozen peas, 23c per 12 ounces (23c); fresh apples, 15c per pound (17c); fresh green beans, 23c per pound (26c); potatoes, 85c per 15 pounds (94c); coffee, $1.00 per pound ($1.01), and sugar, 54c per five pounds (54c).

Banner For Accountants

PAUL M. HERRING, national vice-president of the National Association of Accountants, presented a banner of achievement to the Lehigh Valley Chapter at the technical session held Sept. 13 at Easton.

The banner was presented to Charles T. Farley, past president, representing the Lehigh Valley Chapter, for its having obtained 10th position in the national competition against 131 chapters during the year ended May 31.

Speaker was Colin Park, partner of Haskins and Sells, New York, formerly director of Executive Development Program of the University of Buffalo, who addressed the group on "Time Dynamics in Planning Fund-Flows".

Gilbert

Mrs. Elizabeth Shupp

MRS. ANNIE Young, Saylorburg, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Gruber, several days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Souders, son Ronald visited their son Gordon Souders and family, Cherryville, Sunday.

Mrs. Sula Keller and Lawrence Smale, Kresgeville, Miss Irene Smith and William Smale, Gilbert are petit jurors for Sept. court at Stroudsburg, Monday, 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Guth, Catsaqua, visited Miss Anna Kresge, Sunday afternoon.

The flowers and bulletins in Salem United Church of Christ Sunday were given by Mrs. Margaret Schubert in memory of her husband, William.

Review In Plans

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Highways Department has directed its district and county engineers to review emergency operating plans drafted for severe hurricanes. The department said the "alert" order is to make certain the department's entire resources will be ready when and if a hurricane strikes the state.

Bangor High School Launches Campaigns At Special Assembly Program This Week

BANGOR — The opening guns of the 1957 campaign of the Bangor Area Joint High School were fired at special assemblies held in the high school on Tuesday afternoon. Plans this year call for raising some $5,000 to help in defraying the cost of the newly purchased uniforms for the high school band.

Members of the Music Boosters Club, composed of parents and others interested in music in the local schools, are acting as the sponsors of this year's effort. The Area School Committee has underwritten a part of the cost of the new uniforms and the balance will be raised through the efforts of the club.

Although the new outfits for the band are not expected before the middle of October, Kenneth Fritz, band director, has indicated that they will be something new in the way of local band uniforms. Members of the band will be attired in white coats with maroon and gold trim, matching hats and plumes and maroon trousers with white stripes. White shoes and white gloves will complete the uniform.

Uniforms have been ordered for some 60 senior band members as well as special uniforms for the majorettes and the color guards. Uniforms are also being supplied to the members of the high school girls rifle drill team, a new organization that made its initial appearance last Spring. Fritz is assisted in the overall drill program by John L. Williams of the high school faculty. Williams is in charge of the rifle team and assists with special maneuvers by the color guards.

Yugoslav, Polish Chiefs Balk At Plan

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Polish and Yugoslav governments subscribed today to the policies of the Soviet Union on Syria and Germany. But on inter-party relations of different countries, the Polish and Yugoslav Communist leaders balked at creation of a new Cominform or Cominform.

Yugoslavia officially recognized Poland's western frontier along the Oder and Neisse rivers "as the definitive Polish-German border."

These were the main points of declarations signed here just before Wladyslaw Gomulka, secretary general of the Polish Communist party, Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz left for home after a seven-day visit with President Tito and other Yugoslav chiefs.

Documents
The documents summing up the talks here by the two sets of leaders, who stress their independent brand of communism, were in two parts—a declaration by the two governments and the other by the two parties.

On Syria, the two governments fully backed leftist Syria which, they said, "leads independent policies" and is subject to "various kinds of pressure." The situation in the Middle East, they said, represents a danger to peace.

On Germany, the declaration said "the fact of the existence of two German states" must be recognized, and the two German governments must "directly negotiate" to find a satisfactory solution to the unification question.

The West, including the Bonn government, has turned down any idea of direct negotiations with the East German government, which it considers a Red puppet, and insists on unification through free elections.

'Super Tire' Announced

WAYNE, N. J., Sept. 17 (AP)—Plans for the development of a "super tire" were announced today by the U. S. Rubber Co. as it unveiled a four million dollar research center.

The company announced plans for spending at least 120 million dollars in the next five years in research including the use of atomic energy in the rubber industry. H. E. Humphreys Jr., president of the company, told a news conference:

"We aim to develop a super tire which will do away with the necessity of carrying a spare on both new and used cars."

Department Given Power

HARRISBURG, Sept. 18 (AP)—The state Justice Department today ruled the Labor and Industry Department has the right to regulate the transportation of migrant workers in Pennsylvania.

A department board had asked for an opinion after receiving complaints of overcrowded conditions on trucks hauling extra labor for crop-picking.

Scott May Shoot For Martin's Job

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—An approaching election usually finds a goodly number of Pennsylvania's 32 congressmen spreading their wings for a try at the governor's or a senator's chair.

But this year, there's only one member of the delegation who has said he's ready to leave the nest.

That's Rep. Hugh Scott, Philadelphia Republican. He says he definitely would like to try for the job of Sen. Edward Martin, who says he won't ask re-nomination by the Republicans.

Good Bet

Despite the reticence, however, it's a good bet that a number of other Pennsylvania congressmen are discussing the possibility of running for senator or for governor. One of them is Rep. Van Zandt, Republican of Altoona, who has been making as many as five speeches a day in his 30th district since Congress adjourned.

Before leaving Washington, Van Zandt said that if any overtures were made to him to see either nomination, he would prefer the one for senator.

The 13 Democratic congressmen have been talking little about running for governor or senator themselves in view of all the other talk about Gov. Leader as a possible candidate for senator, and Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth and Lt. Gov. Roy Furman as likely prospects for governor to succeed Leader.

Eisenhower Greets Legion

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in a message of greetings to the American Legion convention, said the nation counts on friendship of its allies.

The President sent the message from his vacation headquarters at Newport, R. I.

Expressing greetings "to my fellow members of the American Legion," he said:

"From the experience of our common military service, we have gained a healthy respect for the value of partnership and cooperation.

"No soldier or sailor or airman can win the battle by himself. He needs the support of all his comrades.

"In the same way, our nation counts on the friendship of its allies around the world to help maintain the peace for the generations to come."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
